NH Shows Floorplan

As the fund drive progressed for the Newton Memorial Hospital, officials this week released data on the interior floor plan layout of the $350,000 - $400,000 project.

The four-wing structure will house 25 patient rooms with 19 of the rooms having private baths and three units of two rooms each with adjoining baths.

Plans call for 22 of the rooms for single patients though each will be built to accommodate two patients if necessary. The three other rooms can accommodate three persons instead of two, the architect's plans show.

The combination 25 rooms will have a 28-bed normal capacity with emergency provisions for 53 patients.

A nurse's station centers the interior of the four wings, allowing direct vision along each of the four halls and into the proposed waiting room.

Offices include the lobby or waiting room, an administrator's office, a business office and office for director of nursing.

Medical rooms include a formula room, a nursery, an examination room, labor room and delivery room, operating and emergency rooms.

Across from the nurses' station is a records and X-ray viewing room and study room with space planned for a medical library. Other rooms are planned for storage, staff diningroom, doctors' lounge, nurses room, and mechanical room housing year-round air conditioning and emergency auxiliary power unit.

Plans call for an individual scrub-up room for the operating and delivery rooms.

Architect John Linn Scott's plans also include plans for piping oxygen and suction into each patient room and into the emergency, delivery and labor rooms.

A large kitchen will be included in the wing housing operating, dining and labor rooms. And a recovery room for surgical patients is planned.

Equipment will include electrocardiograph, basal metabolism machine, X-ray with fluoroscope and attachments.

Public restrooms are planned as well as rest rooms throughout the hospital.

Architects are John Linn Scott & Associates, Austin.

REVIVAL

Rev. H. M. Bowley has announced that a revival will be held at the Cameron Gospel Tabernacle beginning Sunday night at 7:45 p. m. June 5.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Committee Ups BRA Fund Limit

The Senate Public Works Committee has increased authorization for the Brazos River project from $40 million to $61 million.

A telegram from Congressman W. R. Poage assuring the increased authorization was received Tuesday by Oxsheer Smith, Cameron banker and chairman of the finance committee of the Brazos River Authority.

The new authorization was granted by the U. S. Senate committee during hearings on the need for additional allowances beyond the $40 million set in 1950.

The Senate committee recommendation cleared a hurdle for continued planning for dam projects throughout the Brazos basin, including projects at Laneport or near Georgetown on the San Gabriel, Yegua River near Somerville and the Navasota River.

Water control and dam projects already completed or building under the BRA program include the Belton Reservoir, the Possum Kingdom dam, Lake Whitney and a Stillhouse Hollow and Waco both now underway, Smith said.

Twenty-three water control projects along the Brazos Basin from Seymour in Northwest Texas to Allens Creek just west of Houston are planned.

A bill authorizing the increase is now before the Senate.

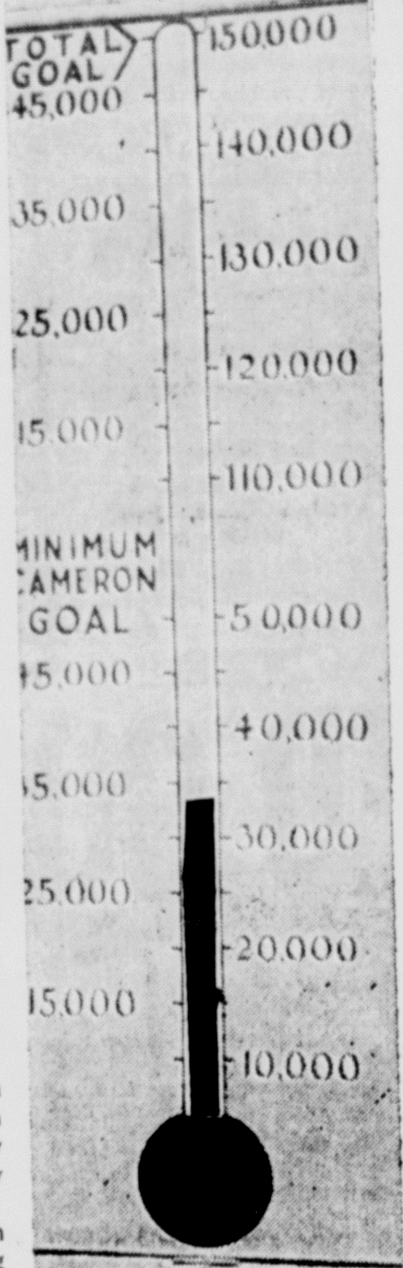

"The additional authorization is necessary to meet additional costs of planning and building the BRA projects," Smith told The Herald.

He said the authorization did not constitute actual allotting of funds for the project, but when each project is ready for building.

Senate approval of the bill would then require final U. S. House approval before going to the President for signing.

In the Cameron and surrounding Cen-Tex area, there are eight projects either completed, now underway or in the planning and survey stages.

Under the BRA program, a dam would be built at Laneport or near Georgetown when engineers complete final planning on which site would be best suited for reservoir construction.

THERMOMETER — Donations were about the same this week in the Newton Memorial Hospital fund raising drive. The fund thermometer showed a slight gain in front of Newton Memorial Fund Headquarters, 207 S. Houston.

Board Urging Contributions For Hospital

Officials of the Newton Memorial Hospital Advisory Board this week urged consideration of contributions for the new Newton Memorial Hospital.

"Due to the slowness of pledges being received, it is apparent that the drive will have to be called off unless the citizens of this community respond more favorably," a spokesman said. "It would be especially apparent that the businessmen of Cameron and surrounding communities would be interested in maintaining adequate hospital facilities and that they would recognize the economic value of the payroll and other expenditures in the community."

A minimum of $50,000 is sought to match about $160,000 to $200,000 in federal funds from the Hill-Burton Committee and another $60,000 in contributions from outside the county. The 28-bed hospital and equipment will be erected at a cost of $350,000 to $400,000.

"It is especially significant that this community is being asked for a minimum of 8 per cent of the total final value of the assets which the community itself will own," the Advisory Board reported.

"For those who are unable to make larger cash contributions or who prefer to spread the payments out for tax purposes, pledges to pay any amount per month over a period of 36 months will be acceptable and appreciated," the Board noted.

"If for any reason you have not been contacted relative to your pledge, please contact the Headquarters at the Sealy Lamkin Building, south of Cameron Chamber of Commerce," the board spokesman added.

Runoff Set For Saturday

Judge's Race

Only One Listed For 2nd Primary

Milam County voters will have only one race on the Democratic Primary runoff Saturday when polls open 8 a. m. Saturday at 38 county precincts.

Max McClaren, Milam Democratic Executive Committee chairman, said that a light vote is expected since no county runoff races are on the ballot.

Only race on the June 4 runoff ballot will be between two candidates for State Court of Criminal Appeals incumbent, Lloyd W. Davidson and W. T. McDonald of Bryan.

Voting boxes will open at 8 a. m. Saturday and close at 7 p. m.

Davidson and McDonald, a district judge in the Bryan district, led a three-way primary race for the Criminal Appeals Court bench. Temple's Jim D. Bowmer won in Milam County but ran third in the state race.

Davidson is seeking a second term.

A total of 5,146 votes was cast in the May 5 primary in Milam County.

The next election will be the general election in November.

In 1958 the runoff election had two county races in a commissioner's race and one justice of peace race, both in the Cameron area precinct.

Political observers predict a light vote in the state-wide runoff since the judge's race is the only race on the state-wide ballots.

New Grid Coach To Meet Players Tuesday Night

Coach Bill Bates, new head coach at Yoe High School, has invited all 1960 YHS football candidates to meet with him at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday at Yoe High Auditorium.

He told The Herald he wished to get acquainted with prospective members of the fall grid squad and discuss some of the plans for training for the 1960 season.

Bates has moved to Cameron at 409 N. Houston with his wife and family.

He will introduce the Iowa Wing T. Bates said, with a variety of formations to be used on offense. "We hope to hold some sessions this summer on theory of the game and plan for the opening of practice sessions in August," he said.

Bates comes to Cameron from George West, a One-A school where he fielded a semi-finalist team a year ago. He was hired out of a field of about 40 coach applicants for the head coach's post here, vacated when Coach Jim Speer resigned effective at the end of the school year.

Crops Going Good But Rain Needed

Rec Programs Booming With Summer Arrival

Cameron took the on the perspective of a Central Texas summer recreation center this week as plans progressed for a number of summer activities in sports and general recreation.

The Cameron Summer Baseball program enjoyed a rousing sendoff with a capacity crowd Tuesday night under the lights.

And work was progressing on the interior of the Cameron Bowling Alleys' eight new lanes and automatic pinsetters.

Meanwhile, Western Week programming was announced for the two-day Cameron Saddle Club Horse Show, scheduled for its sixth start July 15.

The three events promised extra interest for Milam Countians interested in getting away from the heat of the summer days ahead.

The Cameron Municipal Swimming Pool also opened its doors last week, offering swimming lessons.

Other facilities enjoying heavy summertime traffic were the Cameron County Club's nine-hole golf course and the 77-Drive. In which hosted 1,200 visitors on opening night last week.

Kickoff date for most of the recreation interest was the Memorial Day weekend, which failed to produce any major accidents on Cameron or Milam County roads. Tourist traffic also showed signs of picking up.

The Cameron Bowling Lanes, being expanded in a $125,000 building program by the Cameron Columbus Club are expected to be open August 1.

Mrs. Henry Plate Dies In Lubbock

Mrs. Henry Plate, formerly of Tracy, died in the home of a daughter, Mrs. W. M. Ryan, of Lubbock, Saturday night.

Services were held 2:30 p. m. Tuesday in Lubbock.

Mrs. Plate had lived in the Tracy Community for about 50 years.

For Western Week...

Show Events Set

Western Week enthusiasts were sporting their second week of beard growth today as Chamber officials received bumper stickers and the Cameron Saddle Club announced the program for the July 15 - 16 show.

Buddy Shipp, chairman of the gaited show and Mrs. Joe Hickman, chairman of the quarterhorse show, announced detailed plans for the two-day show that will climax Cameron's second Western Week Celebration.

The sixth annual show will start with a grand parade 5:30 p. m. July 15 and will officially open at 7:15 p. m. with the gaited show that night.

Gaited show classes include: Reining, shetland pony, children under 12, pole bending, rescue race, ladies all - Western, Mens' all - Western, ribbon roping, plantation, ladies barrel race, three-gaited, men's barrel race, novice, flag race and keyhole race.

The quarterhorse show will begin 8 a. m. July 16 with seven events: junior roping, reining and cutting, senior roping, reining and cutting and Western pleasure class.

Halter classes seven divisions will show starting at 1 p. m. July 16. They are grand champion stallion, reserve champion stallion, junior geldings, grand champion mare, reserve champion mare, senior gelding and grand champion gelding.

The sixth annual show, like the Western Week program July 11-16, promises to be the most outstanding in the event's history, officials said.

Hundreds of entries are expected in both shows and thousands of people are expected to crowd Cameron all six days of Western Week.

A committee of Chamber, Junior Chamber and Saddle Club members is developing a week-long program in conjunction with the Cameron Saddle Club Show.

A wide range of Western Week events will include mock hangings, stage holdups, shoot outs, robberies and numerous events to maintain the spirit of Western Week throughout the mid-July week.

Last year some 10,000 Texans crowded Cameron for the big pre-horse show parade that ran about two miles in length.

And patrons were turned away at the night events of the horse show. Plans include additional seating for the show events and a wide open Western atmosphere throughout the city.

Gov. Price Daniel is expected to proclaim Cameron Western Week in Austin in about three weeks following a pony express ride by members of the Saddle Club to Austin.

Chamber Manager Jack DuBois is expecting shaving permits and buttons in soon for distribution to beard growers and non-growers alike.

Slow 3-Incher Would Boost Corn, Maize

Crop conditions were rated good this week by county agriculture observers though a 3-inch rain is needed for corn and grain.

Robert Hoermann, assistant county agent, said that current hot, dry weather is excellent for Milam cotton crops, but that maize and corn need a slow, 3-inch rain to keep going toward a good harvest.

Officials are rating Milam tomato production this season as excellent. It is still early to determine the quantity and quality of other truck crops, including watermelons and cantaloupes.

Cotton growers were busy spraying against insect infestation, Hoermann added. "And this is the ideal time to poison", he emphasized.

Cattle prices are off some due to a normal seasonal cycle which will end in the fall when the cattle go off of grass, Hoermann said. But in general, crops looked good and needed only some rain in the next week to produce a good yield at harvest time, he noted.

Milam County is expected to produce about 20,000 to 25,000 bales of cotton this fall due to the increase in acreage, showing gains of about 1,500 additional acres from other counties and about 3,000 more from a higher proportion of cotton acreage allotted the county under the federal soil bank plan.

Chamber Launches Membership Drive

The Cameron Chamber of Commerce is conducting a membership drive toward 100 percent participation of city businesses and professions.

Don Humble is heading the drive for additional members, Chamber officials pointed out.

Chamber Manager Jack DuBois said "it takes concerted effort to get things done in these modern times. It takes co-operation and mutual assistance — and that's where your Chamber of Commerce enters the picture."

He cited the Chamber's role of serving agriculture, business and professional men and women for the improvement of the community.

DuBois emphasized the Chamber works on the community level to get things done for Cameron.

He cited also an enlarged program of work to assist in developing Cameron's assets for progress and growth.

Heads Appearing On Maize Stalks

Ben Spears, Extension Agronomist at A & M College was contacted this week by the Milam County agent for possible causes of the rather short maize stalks that are beginning to head out in this area. Spears is of the opinion that the condition was caused by the cold weather influencing the elongation of the inter nodes of the stems of maize plants resulting in short stalks. Since hybrid varieties of maize are developed to mature in 90 to 100 days, Spears does not think the plants are heading out prematurely. The most favorable average daily temperature for sorghum growth is about 80 degrees F.

Spears was further questioned concerning the effects of the short stalks on yields of grain per acre.

The agronomist said that no research work had been done on this subject but in his opinion, any factor that interfered with the normal development of a plant might reduce yields of some extent.

The following information concerning the effect of the weather on premature seeding of onions is for public information and further points out that weather effects other crops as well as maize.

PREMATURE SEEDING IN ONIONS — According to Dr. Clyde C. Singletary, Extension Horticulturist - Vegetables, onion plants prematurely seeding before the bulbs are ready for harvesting has perhaps been the most important factor affecting yield and quality thus far in 1960. More than 50 per cent of the onion plants in some fields have been reported to be producing seed stalks.

What causes a variety of onions to produce a higher percentage of seed stalks in one year than the next? Premature seeding in onions was much less in 1959 and in 1960. The principal factor involved is temperature. Research results show that an extended cold period of around 10 days or more which inhibits the growth of onion plants will cause the plants to produce seed prematurely. The severity of seed stalk formation varies by variety and from field to field.

Rotary Mower Can Be Lethal Weapon

COLLEGE STATION. — Did you know a rotary power lawn mower blade travels at speeds up to 150 miles per hour and is capable of throwing sticks, stones, or other objects at comparable speeds? Imagine what would happen if you were hit by one of these fast-flying objects.

Power lawn mowers are now in the majority both in town and among farm people. Along with their increased use has been a closely related increase in accidents involving both operators and bystanders. Most accidents have been due to carelessness or lack of knowledge on the part of the individual.

W. L. Ulich, extension agriculture engineer, offers these suggestions on how to operate your rotary power lawn mower safely and efficiently.

Always disconnect spark plug wire before working on the blade. A clean sharp blade does a better cutting job and requires less power. Never operate mower with safety shields removed. Make sure all rocks and debris are removed from the area before close mowing. Do not refill the gasoline tank when engine is hot or running. Run mower as slow as possible to do good work. Keep children and pets away from mowers. Always be certain of sure footing when mowing on steep slopes. Never leave engine running when mower is unattended. Make sure mower is steady and under control before starting engine. Always be aware of the hazards involved when you are using a power mower.

Don't get caught napping.

Bagworm Control Time Is Here

College Station. — Bagworms are, or soon will be, active in all parts of the State. The time to obtain good control of these pests is when they are young, as chemicals applied after the worms are grown gives no control, says James Hawkins, assistant extension entomologist.

After hatching, the larvae immediately start to feed on the foliage of ornamental plants. The young worms spin a silken bag about themselves and as they feed attach bits of foliage to this bag. The worms carry this bag with them as they move about. When the worms are grown, this bag is one and a half to two inches long and affords the worm almost complete protection.

In September the female worm deposits her eggs in the bag and then dies. The bags should be picked from infested plants and burned because the eggs for next season's worms go through the winter inside the bags.

Hawkins recommends 10 percent toxaphene or 4 percent malathion dust as a control. Lead arsenate, toxaphene or malathion spray can also be used. Remember, the entomologist concludes, these chemicals are effective only if used when the worms are young.

Specialist Reviews Broiler Situation

College Station — Broiler prices in Texas have averaged slightly better this year than for the same period in 1959, reports F. Z. Beanblossom, extension poultry marketing specialist. These prices, he says, may encourage additional production which could result in a downward price trend. The specialist points out, however, that a cautious credit policy by feed manufacturers and lending agencies may be distinct limitation on the number of birds grown.

Broiler slaughter in the near future will turn upward in line with broiler placements which, on a national basis, attained a new 3 year high in May. Beanblossom points out that this present buildup in placements may not have a great effect on prices because we are approaching the season of the year when broiler demand is usually the highest.

Texas placements, total hatch and eggs set for the week ending May 7 also showed an increase over the same period in 1959, the specialist continues.

Rabies Reported In Many Texas Areas

COLLEGE STATION. — Many reports of rabid animals—chiefly foxes and skunks — are coming in from over the State, says Edwin Cooper, extension wildlife specialist.

Since complete eradication of animals subject to carrying rabies is almost impossible, everyone should be aware of methods which lessen the possibility of contracting the disease, Cooper continues. Contrary to popular belief, rabid animals do not have "running fits" nor "froth at the mouth." A rabid animal is usually characterized by symptoms of paralysis and loss of their usual fear of humans or natural enemies. Therefore, Cooper says children should be cautioned to avoid any animal which appears to be acting strangely.

Foxes, strange dogs and skunks especially should be avoided. Rabies also can be carried by domestic livestock, bats, squirrels and several other mammals. Rabies may occur during any season of the year, Cooper emphasizes. A "deodorized" pet skunk, for example, may be a dangerous creature to have around, in spite of the novelty and interest it may afford.

If a person is bitten by any type of wild or domestic animal, the person should immediately report to the family doctor after making every effort to capture and pen the attacking animal for observation purposes if this can be done safely. If it is a wild animal, it should be killed unless capture can be accomplished without risk of another attack. Instructions for having the animal checked for rabies can be obtained from your doctor or veterinarian.

Consult your veterinarian to make certain your pets are properly vaccinated. Stray, untamed or suspicious acting domestic or wild animals should be reported immediately.

New Leaflets On Fertilizer Available

College Station — Texas Agriculture Extension Service leaflets containing general fertilizer recommendations for each of the 14 land resource areas of Texas are now available. Recommendations in each leaflet are those found best by experiments, soil test summaries and practical experience in the field.

The recommendations, however, are general in scope. Since soils vary so much in nutrient levels, soil tests should be made in order to obtain more definite and economical fertilizer recommendations. The major purpose of each leaflet is to serve as a guide.

For best results with fertilizers, other factors should be favorable, such as a well-prepared seedbed, good stand, absence of disease, adequate moisture, aeration and good cultural practices, the leaflet points out.

Good cropping systems with legumes in rotation aid in a favorable response of crops to fertilizers. When crops follow legumes turned under, the amount of nitrogen needed may be reduced. Where soil and crop management practices are favorable, even higher rates of fertilization than those shown may be economically advantageous.

Recommendations for specific crops such as cotton, corn, carrots, apples, Sudan and many others are given in the leaflets. The leaflets also point out how grades of fertilizers are calculated. There is also a discussion on methods of application.

KNOW YOUR INSECT ENEMY

THE COTTON BOLLWORM

Tiny bright green or white eggs in the terminal growth of cotton plants are the first warning of this pest. The worm itself may vary in color from pinkish-green to nearly black, and begins feeding on leaves right after hatching.

Later, the worms begin tunneling into the squares and bolls, causing them to drop. Even when effective weevil control has permitted a good boll set, a heavy bollworm attack in late season can destroy the crop that has formed. If that happens, plants may not have time to mature another crop of bolls.

Control often has been difficult, especially when mature worms burrow themselves inside the bolls. Wherever you find them, bollworms are robbing your profits.

During 1959, a new insecticide was widely tested. Growers report that this new material, called Sevin, proved highly effective against hard-to-kill bollworms. This new material is a carbamate (carbamate) and it introduces an entirely new chemical to the pesticide field — one that is safer to use than many other insecticides. Applied as a spray or dust, Sevin knocked out bollworms even when they had penetrated into the bolls, according to cotton growers.

Entomologists point out that there may be several broods of bollworms each year, which can seriously reduce your cotton crop. Their advice — stay on the alert for bollworms. When you first find signs of them, spray or dust to get early kill. For economy, use a broad-range pesticide that will knock out bollworms, and other cotton pests, at the same time.

I Give You Texas

Newspaper reporters aren't like they used to be. (Who or what is?)

I remember, in my "cub" days as a member of the staff of a Southern newspaper when I specialized in writing obituaries and minor fires, one day there walked into the office a short, chunky individual, with a rolling gait. He wore glasses and had a serious way of speaking. He informed the city editor that he had just landed -- and that was the correct word -- in town as (he said) he and his wife had floated down the Mississippi on a raft.

He had (he said) visited the leper island and had talked with Father Dutton, who had succeeded Father Damien. Also (he said) in the Far East, or maybe it was the South Seas, he had been in a shipwreck, had washed ashore on an island and had been captured by natives who tortured him by pulling out his toe-nails. I do not recall how he escaped as the adventures by that time had me head whirling but I seem vaguely to remember that (he said) he made a speech and became their chief.

Of course, a man with such an exotic career was hired on the spot. Soon he was star of the staff, his named signed to more stories than all the rest of us combined. In fact, he became so well-established in our city that he married a prominent lady. What became of the wife who had floated down the Mississippi on a raft was never exactly clear. Come to think of it, none of us ever did actually see her.

It was not to be expected that our paper could hope to keep the services of so remarkable a journalist permanently. One day, he solemnly skook the hand of each of us and told us that the great open spaces were calling.

When next we heard of him, he was on a Pacific Coast newspaper -- as financial editor. The next we heard after that, the financial editor was gone but, so as not to be forgotten, he had left, not footprints on the sands of time, but a bevy of "hot checks." Possibly he drifted on to the Mayan ruins of Yucatan or journeyed to Egypt to capture crocodiles.

Outdoors In Texas Texans To Mexico

By Vern Sanford

Many Texans head for Mexico for a hunting or fishing trip. But not many go in for manta ray harpooning.

An Oklahoma friend of mine, Range Clyde Jr., now a Mexico City businessman, recently told me of his adventures in this exciting sport.

Although you may never participate in manta ray harpooning, as an outdoorsman, you may, nevertheless, be interested in what Range had to say about his experience.

Anyway, here is an interesting, true story to add to your collection.

Strangely enough, Range happened to be on his honeymoon when his opportunity for manta ray harpooning appeared. So he and his wife both participated in the manta ray hunt. She is a former Olympic swimming champion from Mexico City.

On arriving at Papanoa, Mexico, located on the Pacific Coast between Acapulco and Zihuatenejo, they found the fishermen enraged over the arrival in their waters of hundreds of giant manta rays. The huge mantas were tearing away all the fish which provide their livelihood.

When the Cloyds head the details to the natives' plans for driving off the mantas, they couldn't resist joining in the hunt.

Here's how the fishermen went about it.

First they made harpoons, using a broomstick handle for the shaft. To this shaft, they attached their harpoon point by binding it tautly with wire. The harpoon point was made from steel rods, such as those used in reinforcing concrete, and were about as big around as your little finger. There rods were bent back double, to the shape of a hook, and filed down at the end to an effective shape barbed point.

Second, they attached a light line to the handle end of the harpoon. The boats these fishermen used were old, primitive dugout canoe - type craft, made by the natives from trunks of trees.

At first Range was wary about going out in this small, crude craft, especially after hearing the tales of how the huge manta rays, weighing several tons, were known to jump as high as 15 feet out of water during the mating season.

Nevertheless the Cloyds proceeded to join the group and here is how the sport was enacted.

As the manta rays were close in, the natives did not have far to go from shore before encountering them. They paddled their way out until they could see a dark cast or shaded area in the water, indicating a sleeping manta. As the manta rays were close floating just a few inches below the surface of the water, the hunters would move along quietly until their boat was right on top of a big ray. Standing in the boat, the harpoonist would hurl his harpoon into the back of the manta and then hold on to the line and hope, or pray.

The manta, quite rudely awakened, peels off like an airplane going into a dive. One of his huge wings lifts mightily out of the water, beside the boat, as if ominously threatening to smash it and the occupants, as the big ray tilts his body and takes off in a dash for the deep water.

You can imagine what an impressive sight this is from a small boat, when you realize that the smallest manta they saw that day had a wingspread of nine feet. They grow much better, too.

As the manta dives, he takes the harpoon in his back with him. The line which had been attached to the harpoon was put there for two purposes. One - to retrieve the harpoon if and when it comes out of the manta's back before he gets away. And two - to allow for a little joy ride under "manta power" as long as the harpoon or light line will take the strain.

Bears Drop Yankees 10-3 In First Game

The first Little League action of the year got under way Tuesday night before the largest crowd at a Cameron baseball game in several years. In the double header, The Bears dropped the Yankees, 10-3 and the Indians swept over the Braves, 9-5.

Newton Burnett was the winning hurler in the Brave - Indian Contest and Taylor and Trevino hurled for the losers.

The Braves walloped out 14 hits in the course of the game, one a home-run by David Zelisko. Other leading sluggers were Bill Goetle and Jack Glass.

Credit for the Bear win went to Mark McKinney as he went the distance; the losing pitcher was Judson Smith.

The Bears picked up 5 runs in the first inning, 1 in the 2nd, 4 in the 4th and zeroed in the final two frames.

The Yankees tallied in the third inning.

Leading Bear batters were Don Mitchell and Kenneth Angel. Shuttfield, Smith and McLerran led the Yankees at the plate.

CYC Girls Win Over Bremond, 12-0

The CYC baseball squad saw victory last week dropping Bremond, 12 - 0 while the local boys were defeated by a 17-4 score.

Jeannette Richter led the girls going 4 for 4 and scoring 3 times. Barbara Barta, Jo Ann Hollas and Lucille Jistel were 3 for 4.

The Cameron bunch jumped off to an early lead, picking up 4 runs in the 1st inning, 4 in the 2nd, 1 in the 3rd and 4 in the 6th.

The winning pitcher was Jeannette Richter. Her catcher was Jo Ann Hollas. The losing hurler was Filer and her catcher was Mileski.

In the boy's contest, Bremond tallied 4 in the 1st, 6 in the 2nd, 1 in the 3rd, 5 in the 4th and 1 in the 7th.

Cameron garnered 3 in the 1st and 1 in the 4th. The winning battery was Kowalski and Turlah. The losing was Mueck and Richter.

1959 Sports Review

Robert Mann

The Cameron Merchants headlined the June 4, 1959 edition of The Herald. They lost a close ball game to the Pendleton Club, 4-3.

Pendleton retained their lead in the Cen-Tex rating. Hurricane Fennee of Temple was second, and Killeen third.

The Public Swimming Pool opened last week with a number of improvements listed. The pool was repainted and new diving boards are in use. It's under the direction of Snooks Michalka.

In Babe Ruth League baseball the Colts dropped the Owls by a 13 - 10 count. Bobby Griswold, CAMERON, TEXAS' HERALD, JUNE 2, 1960 Page 9 Colt player clouted the season's first home run in the second inning. The Owls set back The Cats the next night, 7-5 Bobby Jones was the winning pitcher.

Cardinals Defeat Rosebud 10 - 2

Cameron Cardinals defeated Rosebud Astez by the score of 10-2 Marcelo Fino and Tony Mendoza divided the pitching chores and Fidel Ortiz was the catcher.

Cameron will go to Waco Sunday to play the Waco Eagles at the Eagles park.

Rogers School Board

The School Board of Rogers Consolidated Independent School District will have the regular June meeting Thursday night.

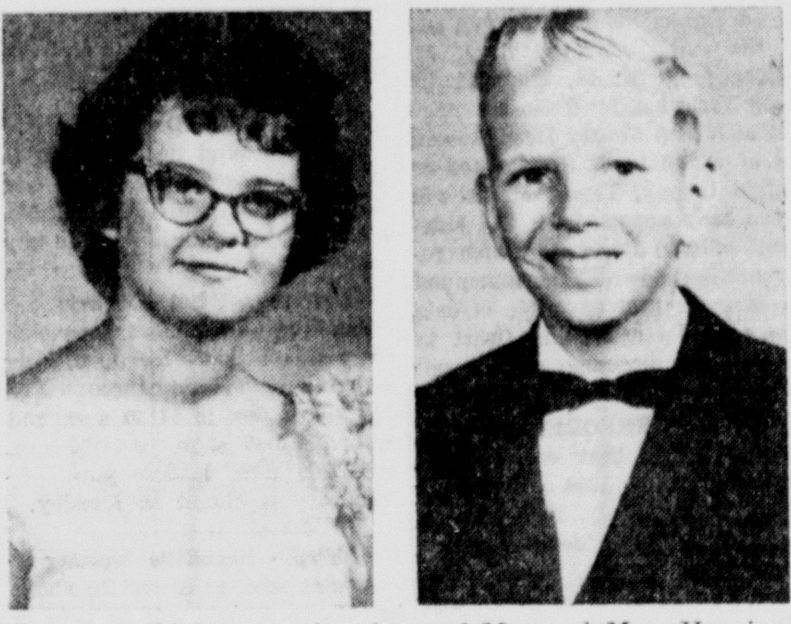

The agenda includes consideration of monthly bills, the filling of two faculty vacancies consideration of the tentative budget for 1960-1961, consideration of the proposed school calendar for the ensuing year.

Cameron Merchants Edge Belton, 6-4

The Cameron Merchants edged Belton Sunday in extra innings, 6-4, due to a homerun by pitcher Kenneth Threath with a man on.

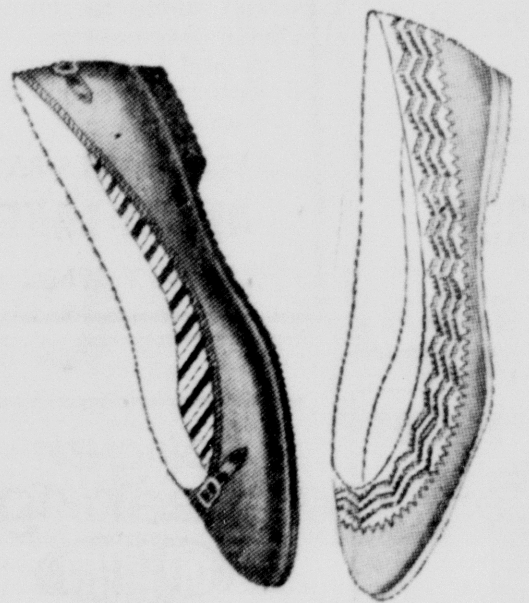

Cameron was trailing going into the lasthalf of the ninth, 4-2. Threath led off with a single, Dodd and Rettig walked with two away to load the bases. Third baseman Sonny Raymond drew another pass forcing in Threath and Glen Rosenberg drew a free pass on a full count bringing home Dodd tying the game at 4-4.

Rodney Folschinsky and Threath accounted for the Merchants first two runs. Threath was the winning pitcher and Ed Hess the loser.

Miss Jean McLerran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison McLerran and Jon Carter Zelisko, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnett Zelisko were presented the American Legion Citizenship awards at the 8th grade graduation ceremonies held at the Yoe High School Gymnasium Friday. The award is given annually for scholarship, leadership, and good citizenship. Miss McLerran was on the honor roll for the entire school year. She also received an H award. Zelisko was second in his class with an average of 5.1 grade points. He was also presented the Daughters of the Confederacy Award for the best theme on any phase of the War Between the States.

'This Is Swell'...

Anybody looking for success stories in Cameron ought to visit the new Little League Baseball Diamond some night this week.

There will be several hundred parents watching proudly as youngsters play their hearts out for their teams.

You will see a regulation baseball diamond, 275 feet to left and right field walls, 400 over center field, with wire screens, team dugouts, bleachers, concession stand, restrooms and all the trappings of a fine baseball center. You'll see hundreds of kids hard at work... playing!

And you, Mr. and Mrs. Cameron, helped with your dollars and your time and work and built this splendid monument to kids. The school granted use of the land; the city graded, filled and leveled; Little League adult leaders built and installed; several companies donated equipment and work at cost; and the kids picked up rocks, donned the uniforms and gave Cameron a gift of friendly rivalry only they know how to enjoy.

If ever a community proved its ability to do... this is a final proof.

Glow with pride, Mr. and Mrs. Cameron. You have proved again that co-operation and know how and hard work are a part of this community's fibre.

And if there is any question that progress is unimportant and unnecessary and unbeneficial, ask one of those kids what he thinks. He most likely would say: "This is swell!"

And the effort will seem little cost for the smile on his face and the promise Cameron has assured him.

Census Optimism...

Statistics have a way of moderating extremes in attitudes about the question of growth.

Take for example the tentative figures on Cameron population. If a pessimistic attitude is followed, Cameron would seem to have lost ground because estimates were 7172 while the actual count will be in the neighborhood of 6,000 people.

But an optimist, with a flair for realism, would see these figures as the 12 percent gain over the official 1950 census of 5,052.

Rather than a whopping 40 percent gain on the basis of estimates, we will have an actual gain of near 20 percent when all college students, servicemen and other out-of-town residents are counted.

This is an optimistic picture. We could name cities like Galveston, Hillsboro, San Saba, Llano and others in Texas which lost population. We could go further and point out that midwest cities like St. Louis and Cleveland lost population since 1950. Then we would have grounds for even greater optimism.

And we can remember that Milam County's total population loss was less than any surrounding Central Texas counties of similar rural and agriculture nature.

We could glimpse the metropolitan growth of Temple-Killeen-Belton, Waco and Bryan-College Station and reason that Cameron is in the midst of a new metropolitan area in Texas that is overlooked with boom areas like Dallas - Ft. Worth, Houston and San Antonio. These are growing centers that total about 3 million people this year. In 10 more years, how many millions will there be?

We can hardly overemphasize the importance of being in the center of this population development. In final analysis, it will mean as much to Milam County as the apparent abundance of water supplies and tributaries traversing this historic county.

It is this type of analysis that puts Cameron in good stead... in the middle of a giant circle to which people will naturally gravitate for enjoyable climate, living conditions and employment.

Our estimates of population and growth should be optimistic. We should not be discomfited if they do prove a bit ambitious in scope. They are the sign of confidence and far sightedness that the next few years will justify and reward.

Salary Money May Run Short

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN — Most ardent advocates of a tax bill to pour fresh funds into the state's coffers likely will be legislative employees.

They may be hunting new jobs or working for nothing before the year is out.

Only about $130,000 remains in the legislative expense fund for use between now and the end of the year. A good part of this probably will be needed to pay travel and miscellaneous expenses of the study committees that meet between sessions.

If these expenses run very high, the permanent legislative employees — people who keep records, staff the legislative library, etc. — may run short on salary money.

Their only course, if they want to stay on in their jobs, will be to hang on until the new legislature finds money to pay them.

SESSION COSTS TOTALED
Last year's legislative sessions — one regular, three special — cost the state $2,773,140.

Of the $2,773,140 total, $724,000 was spent by the 32-member Senate, $1,242,000 by the 150-member House. Each member received in salary about $5,000 at the rate of $25 per day.

Rest of the expense is mostly for the employees to keep a session going — answer letters, keep records, print bills, etc.

SALES TAX TAKE ESTIMATED
A retail sales tax with groceries, medical and other services exempted would raise an estimated $133,000,000 a year, a Texas Research League tax expert told the Commission on State and Local Tax Policy.

If the tax covered not only finished products but raw products used by business in manufacturing, the take would be some $80,000,000 a year more but would result in the consumer's paying two taxes on one item.

A retail sales tax would not hurt Texas' future industrial development, the Commission was told by a business expert, but a tax on manufacturing raw materials would.

Very few elective officials have come out strongly for any kind of broad-based sales tax. Some are bound to look longingly at this avenue however, since the amount that will have to be raised next year will, if teachers get any sort of raise, be almost as much as a retail sales tax would net.

Johnson, Poage Discnss Issues

Senate

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson called Sunday for a cool, calm and objective assessment of the recent summit conference.

In a weekly report, recorded for broadcast in Texas, Johnson said, "We are not trying to push anything under the desk; we want the American people to have all the information that can be given them in the national interest. At the same time, we are not trying to find scapegoats and to play politics with such an important international matter."

The Senator had as his guest Harry Provencher of Waco, prominent Texas newspaperman and a newspaper executive.

In their question-and-answer discussion, Johnson expressed belief that "Premier Khrushchev did not intend for the summit to be a success when he went there and he used the U2 incident to break it up and now, unless we are very careful, he will use it to try to divide our country."

Johnson voiced confidence inquiry into the collapse of the summit conference by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, headed by Senator William Fulbright, would be conducted "with the usual high standards with which he performs his public service."

Earlier, Johnson referred to Fulbright as "one of the ablest members of the Senate."

House

By W. R. Poage

This week the House passed a Federal School Aid Bill. I simply cannot feel that the Federal Government should control our schools and I am equally sure that in the long run if the Federal Government finances our schools it will control them. The fact that this bill contains the "Powell" amendment prohibiting segregated schools seems to me to pretty well prove that Federal aid means Federal control. Nor can I see how it saves our taxpayers anything for the Federal Government to levy taxes in Texas and then send us back a part of what has been collected. Why not let the people of Texas tax themselves and spend their money at home? I therefore voted against the proposal (on the final vote I "paired" with a colleague who was trying to catch a plane and thus allowed him to be recorded).

Earlier in the week we had passed the Public Works Appropriation Bill. While this bill gives the 11th District more money than it gives to any other District in the State for flood control, it did not provide for a start on Stillhouse Hollow Dam. I hope we can get that added in the Senate. The bill did assure almost $11,000,000 of work on the Waco Dam and it also contains $1,600,000 for construction on the Proctor Dam on the Leon. Of course, I supported it.

It is not too often that the great news magazines published farm articles which show up the problem, but but this week "U. S. News and World Report" of May 30th carried a very interesting article on a study which was recently conducted on the "electric brain" at Iowa State University. The important thing about this study was the calculation of farm prices by the mid-1960's with the assumption that all controls and supports would be removed.

The "brain" which is probably as nearly unprejudiced as most "figures" came up with a probable price of 66 cents per bushel for corn, 74 cents per bushel for wheat, 10 cents per pound for

LITTLE RIVER PHILOSOPHER

He's Sorry Cities Not Growing Faster, But Don't Look To Him

Dear editor:

Some of the preliminary census figures have been coming in, according to the newspapers I've been reading lately, and as I understand it a lot of towns and cities are downright miserable about it. Many of them want a re-count.

Despite the fact a lot of cities already have more people than they can provide paved streets for, some of them have more than they can provide police protection for, they still want to get bigger and bigger, and to have the census figures show their population gained only half as much as they figured it had, is a blow to civic pride. To have it actually show a decrease, is considered a major catastrophe. To have it double in size, is a cause for hand-springs.

I don't understand this. I've got as many people living around me as I want, and I figure most of my neighbors are as close to me as they care about being, but still I can't see where our country folks can be of much help to the towns and cities.

I mean, for the past twenty-five years we've been culling as fast as we can, to where the farm population has dropped from 30 per cent of the total population of this country to only 10 per cent but still the cities aren't satisfied. Oh, I'll admit we might have a few stragglers and low producers left we could send into town to swell the census figures next time (don't look at me, I ain't going, even if I do qualify), but anybody who understands arithmetic knows that if us farmers just have 10 per cent of the population left, even if all of hogs, 11.51 cents per pound for average cattle, $2.66 per 100 lbs for milk, 27.2 cents per dozen for eggs and 13 cents per pound for broilers.

This is but one more indication that a complete removal of controls and supports would result in ruinously low prices not only for the relatively few crops which are directly controlled, but also for livestock, milk and poultry as a result of the extremely low grain prices which would surely follow.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Collison and family of Pryor Okla. visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Brehure last week.

Milam HD Clubs Meet In Rockdale

Fourteen members attended the Home Demonstration Club Council Meeting Milam County May 23 in the Rockdale State Bank. Six clubs were represented.

In the business meeting, Mrs. Hanel, chairman, announced that Mrs. Klasek has resigned as council secretary. Mrs. L. L. Keen of the New Salem clubs was elected to fill the unexpired term.

Other business transacted included the study of year book plans for the coming year and all clubs were asked to bring their $2 per member next month. The money will be used to finance the council.

The Milam County clubs were invited to attend a workshop to be held in Temple the 20 and 21.

In discussion to rally day, to take place in July, each member was asked to bring a covered dish.

Marine Officer To Be Here June 9

"A specialist organization that prides itself on its training program" commented Marine Recruiting Sergeant Frank Buskowsky. "The Marines have 140 schools that train men for 470 specialist jobs" he said.

Sgt. Bukowsky, a Metal Shop Foreman, by specialty will be in Cameron June 9 from 3:15 to 6 pm at the Local Draft Board. He can be contacted anytime at his office in Austin, Federal Court House, 200 W. 8th St.
